Message from Honourable Alison M. Redford, QC
Premier of Alberta

On behalf of the Government of Alberta, I would like to congratulate the Canada China Commercial Association (CCCA) on its fifth anniversary. I applaud the organization's efforts in enhancing the Alberta-China and Canada-China commercial relationship.

As our second-largest trading partner, China is a significant market for Alberta exporters and continues to offer enormous opportunities in terms of trade and investment expansion. As we continue to expand our market presence in China, we appreciate the dedication and commitment of organizations such as the CCCA. You have been a key and valued partner.

I was pleased by the success of the 2013 Canada-China Trade and Investment Forum (CCTIF) and I recognize the importance of these events to promote Alberta as a globally competitive and attractive investment destination.

I wish you the best in your future endeavours and look forward to working with you as we enhance the Alberta-China and Canada-China relationships.

Message from the Founding President

Canada China Commercial Association (CCCA) was established in 2009 for individuals and businesses who were interested in finding business opportunities between Canada and China. Five years have passed, CCCA has grown steadily and become one of the influential Chinese business associations in Calgary. This year marks a major milestone for CCCA – our first five year anniversary.

In the past five years, CCCA is very active in local business and Chinese Communities by hosting numerous events throughout the year, including business seminars, networking events and forums. During the 2012 Global Petroleum show, CCCA successfully organized and hosted the "Alberta Energy Energy Outlook Forum 2012" with more than 100 participants from both Canada and China. The success of the forum greatly encouraged us to bring the momentum to a higher level. In 2013, the "2013 Canada-China Trade and Investment Forum" brought together over 100 investors and professionals in the energy, academic and finance sectors as well as representatives from government agents.

As the founding president, I sincerely thank our board, our members and volunteers. It is only with your dedication and support that we are able to build a solid foundation and achieve the fruitful results today. I would also like to thank our sponsors and affiliations, who have supported us in the past five years and have witnessed our growth. I am sure with our new board, bigger member base and more affiliated organizations, CCCA will continue to provide our members with vital support and opportunities to build and grow their businesses, and the future five years will mark another successful milestone for CCCA.

Sincerely yours,

Julie Zheng
The Founding President

Message from the Board

On behalf of all of its members, the board of Canada China Commercial Association (CCCA) would like to present CCCA's history and its achievements over the past years.

CCCA was registered Alberta in 2009 as a non-profit organization with a mandate to assist its members from both Canada and China to build and develop their businesses. Its main purpose is to be the bridge between the two countries and to help its members to exchange information, explore new opportunities and become more competitive. CCCA believes that resource-sharing and cooperation is a win-win strategy and that companies with complementary advantages will be more successful by working together.

As a member based organization, CCCA has grown its membership base from a few affiliated people to individuals and businesses in both Canada and China and across different sectors and industries.

Since its inception, CCCA has organized numerous seminars and workshops, all of which were well received. Participants of these events ranged from local small businesses to international corporations, from financial professions to engineers and from businesses in Canada to delegations from China.

During 2012 Global Petroleum Show in Calgary, CCCA successfully hosted "Alberta Energy Outlook Forum 2012" with more than 100 participants. Built on the success of the 2012 forum, in June 2013, CCCA hosted the "2013 Canada-China Trade and Investment Forum" (CCTIF 2013), which included speakers from both Canadian and Chinese government officials, business leaders, post-secondary educators and representatives from Chinese sovereign fund.

As the board of CCCA, we feel it is our privilege to serve a dynamic organization like CCCA. We would like to encourage you to get involved with the organization by signing up as a member. Please check our website at www.ccca88.ca for upcoming events and staying tuned for the highly anticipated CCTIF2014.

Best regards
The Board of Canada China Commercial Association
